Introduction

Hi, myself imtiaz sarkar , a second year cse student from jis university. My hobby is drawing and im really interested in learning new things and getting new experiences. Till now i have gained knowledge about c language and have done dsa in it. And after that i started gaining knowledge about web development and still gaining experience through projects and real life problems. Right now im working on a new project and i think it'll come out to be a good result.
